VIEWS

[To accompany H.R. 2948]

[Including cost estimate of the Congressional Budget Office]

The Committee on Financial Services, to whom was referred the bill (H.R. 2948) to amend the S.A.F.E. Mortgage Licensing Act of 2008 to provide a temporary license for loan originators transitioning between employers, and for other purposes, having considered the same, reports favorably thereon without amendment and recommends that the bill do pass.

PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

Introduced on June 20, 2017, by Representative Stivers, H.R. 2948 amends the Secure and Fair Enforcement (SAFE) Mortgage Licensing Act of 2008 to provide temporary loan-origination authority for registered loan originators: (1) moving from a financial institution to a state-licensed non-bank originator, or (2) moving interstate to a state-licensed loan originator in another state. This legislation also updates civil liability protections to ensure that those protections continue to apply where state regulators use the National Mortgage Licensing System and Registry (NMLS) as a licensing system for financial services providers other than loan originators.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

Congress enacted the Secure and Fair Enforcement (SAFE) Mortgage Licensing Act of 2008 (“SAFE Act”) as part of the Housing and Economic Recovery Act (HERA). The SAFE Act created state licensing or registration requirements for mortgage loan originators (MLOs). MLOs working as loan officers in federally-regulated depository institutions were required to register with the National Mortgage Licensing System and Registry (NMLS). MLOs working for non-depository mortgage companies were required to become licensed at the state level, complete annual continuing education, and pass criminal background checks.

Because bank loan officers are not state-licensed MLOs, a problem arises when an individual wishes to leave a bank and instead work for a non-bank mortgage company: he or she must wait until completing the SAFE Act’s state licensure requirements – a process that can take weeks or months, depending upon the state – in order to originate loans for the mortgage company, notwithstanding his or her prior experience as a registered bank loan officer. Under current law, the SAFE Act allows for a 60-day grace period for changes in employment due to acquisitions, mergers, and reorganizations, but does not provide for a grace period or other transitional accommodation for bank loan officers seeking to work for non-bank mortgage companies.

H.R. 2948 makes it easier for a registered bank MLO to transition to a non-bank mortgage company, or for a state-licensed MLO to move to another state. The bill grants such persons temporary authority to originate loans for up to 120 days after submitting their application for licensure. H.R. 2948 also establishes eligibility requirements for MLOs seeking transitional loan origination authority. For instance, registered MLOs seeking to move to a non-depository mortgage company must have been a registered as an MLO in the NMLS for the 12 months immediately prior to seeking the transitional authority. Additionally, the registered MLO must:

- Not have had an application for an MLO license revoked or suspended in any governmental jurisdiction;
- Not have been subject to a cease and desist order;
- Not have been convicted of a felony that would make the individual ineligible for licensure; and
- Have submitted an application to be a state-licensed MLO through the NMLS.

H.R. 2948 establishes similar transitional authority for a state-licensed MLO to originate mortgages in a different state, provided that the person is employed by the mortgage company in the state where licensure is sought and has:

- Not had an application for an MLO license revoked or suspended in any governmental jurisdiction;
- Not been subject to a cease and desist order;
- Not been convicted of a felony that would make the individual ineligible for licensure;
- Submitted an application to be a state-licensed MLO through the NMLS; and
- Maintained licensure in the first state for the 30-day period preceding the date of application submission.

H.R. 2948 provides that both the MLO and the company hiring the MLO are subject to the SAFE Act and applicable state law as if the MLO were duly licensed, thus enabling state regulators to fulfill their obligations as regulators of mortgage companies and individual MLOs under the SAFE Act and state financial and consumer protection laws.

Finally, H.R. 2948 includes a technical change to Section 1513 of the SAFE Act to update the SAFE Act's existing civil liability protections to ensure that those protections continue to apply where state regulators use the NMLS as a licensing system for financial services providers other than loan originators.

In a December 12, 2017, letter of support, the Mortgage Bankers Association expressed its support for H.R. 2948, stating:

Rather than leaving a job on a Friday and starting a new job on a Monday, an MLO who moves from a bank to a non-bank lender must sit idle for weeks, and sometimes months, unable to engage in loan origination activities while they complete the SAFE Act's licensing and testing requirements – despite the fact they have already been registered in the NMLS and originating loans. H.R. 2948 promotes a fair and competitive labor market by eliminating barriers to the ability of non-bank lenders (especially small lenders) to compete for talented staff, and allowing MLOs to more easily move to the employer that offers them the best chance to succeed.

H.R. 2948

A bill to amend the S.A.F.E. Mortgage Licensing Act of 2008 to provide a temporary license for loan originators transitioning between employers, and for other purposes

As ordered reported by the House Committee on Financial Services on December 13, 2017

The Nationwide Mortgage Licensing System (NMLS) was established by a consortium of states in response to requirements of the Housing and Economic Recovery Act of 2008 that mandated the creation of such a system. The purpose of the NMLS is to track people who provide mortgages—across state lines and through changes in employment—to ensure that they meet certain qualifications and cannot evade pending regulatory action by moving to a new state or changing employers.

H.R. 2948 would provide temporary authority for licensed mortgage originators to work in a new state or under a new employer—if the employer is a state-licensed mortgage company—for up to 120 days or until a new license is issued. Licensed originators with certain active or previous regulatory violations would not be eligible to obtain the new temporary status.

Using information from the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB), CBO estimates that rulemaking to implement the registration requirements would cost $1 million. The CFPB is permanently authorized to spend amounts transferred from the Federal Reserve to fund its operations. Because that funding is not subject to appropriation, the CFPB's expenditures are recorded in the budget as direct spending.

Using information from the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the NMLS, CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 2948 would have no significant net effect on the collection of licensing fees (which are considered revenues) or on the NMLS's subsequent spending of those fees for its operations. Any change in the timing of when fees are collected would be insignificant.

Because enacting the bill would affect direct spending and revenues, pay-as-you-go procedures apply.

CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 2948 would not increase net direct spending or on-budget deficits in any of the four consecutive 10-year periods beginning in 2028.

H.R. 2948 contains no private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA).

H.R. 2948 would impose an intergovernmental mandate as defined in UMRA by preempting state licensing laws. The bill would grant a temporary license for some loan originators who become employed by a state-licensed mortgage company. Because the preemption would impose no duty on state governments that would result in additional spending or a loss of revenues, CBO estimates that the cost of the intergovernmental mandate would fall well below the UMRA threshold ($78 million in 2017, adjusted annually for inflation).

The CBO staff contacts for this estimate are Stephen Rabent (for federal costs) and Rachel Austin (for mandates). The estimate was approved by H. Samuel Papenfuss, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS OF THE LEGISLATION

Section 1. Eliminating Barriers to Jobs for Loan Originators.

This section provides temporary loan-origination authority to registered loan originators: (1) moving from a financial institution to a state-licensed non-bank originator, or (2) moving interstate to a state-licensed loan originator in another state. This section further provides that both the mortgage loan originator and the company hiring the MLO are subject to the SAFE Act and applicable state law as if the MLO were duly licensed.

Section 2. Amendment to Civil Liability of the Bureau and Other Officials.
