

Jimmy Chen is the Founder and CEO of Propel, creators of the Providers app (formerly Fresh EBT). Providers is an award-winning mobile app used by over 5 million Americans to manage their SNAP benefits, save money, and find jobs. Founded with the idea of using the tech industry's toolkit to improve the daily experience of low-income Americans, Propel helps Americans who live on or near the safety net make it through the month, every month. Propel's investors include Andreessen Horowitz, Kleiner Perkins, Kevin Durant, and Serena Williams. Jimmy previously led product teams at LinkedIn and Facebook and studied Symbolic Systems at Stanford University.
